

Wide Appeal for Sustainability

By Norm Williams, Development Manager

Mary Baker Eddy’s vision for Christian Science nursing inspires and leads to remarkable healing at Wide Horizon. In recognition of the vital importance of Christian Science nursing to our movement, and specifically Wide Horizon, we are launching a five-year campaign, “Wide Appeal for Sustainability.”

This campaign, which is in greater appreciation of Christian Science nurses, is in addition to our annual fund drive which offsets operational costs, including expenditures for benevolence. Our goal is to raise an additional $3.5 million for investments to generate income. Therefore, our objective for this campaign is to provide for the sustainability and continuity of Christian Science nursing at Wide Horizon for future generations.

We are reaching out to the Christian Science field in the Rocky Mountains and Great Plains region to make the need known about Wide Horizon – to maintain our high standard of Christian Science nursing care and to meet the need of patients, who wholeheartedly rely on God and Christian Science. Fulfilling our mission is essential to our collective work together. We are grateful for generous contributions in the past that helped this work move forward.

Now we hope you will join us in our “Wide Appeal for Sustainability” campaign by sincerely appreciating and financially supporting the selfless and sacred work of Christian Science nurses. Every day we are praying to make a real difference in the lives of our guests and for our community. On behalf of our entire “family” of guests, staff and volunteers, thank you for caring and supporting this healing ministry!

Wide Horizon – Broadening Higher from a Boundless Basis

By David Shawaker, Chairman

Greetings from your Wide Horizon Board of Directors!

First, we would like to say how grateful we are for the dedication and loving service of all the employees at Wide Horizon. The Christian Science nurses, aides, food service, maintenance and administrative staff are the effective team which creates the healing atmosphere so valued and attractive to our guests and their families. The Board is also grateful for the generosity and continuing support of the wider Wide Horizon community in the form of volunteering, consistent prayer and financial contributions.

So, how does the Board fit into all this, anyway? We have only one board member with direct Christian Science nursing experience; yet the Board does have members with backgrounds in accounting, human relations, development, budgeting and experience with non-profit organizations. As class-taught students of Christian Science, our greatest contributions are through consistent metaphysical support.

Indeed, Wide Horizon exemplifies Mary Baker Eddy's statement that, "God expresses in man the infinite idea forever developing itself, broadening and rising higher and higher from a boundless basis" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 258).

Wide Horizon is fortunate to have an outstanding Director of Christian Science Nursing and Executive Director, so the Board takes a position not to interfere with the daily operations. The DCSN and ED both report issues that arise in their monthly reports to the Board. Communication is open, and the Board does act as a sounding board for policy and organizational issues that come up.

This year and much of last year, most of the Board's focus has been on strategic issues. Wide Horizon has been operating continuously and successfully for more than 65 years. We have asked, "What should we be doing to insure a healthy, stable operation for the next 65 years?"

The first major step has already been accomplished: the modernization of our current facilities through a major upgrade of the Main Building; and with the addition of new housing for Christian Science nurses and an appropriate building for the maintenance equipment and staff.

The next step we see is to address three issues of significance, which we have in common with many other Christian Science nursing organizations within the Christian Science movement:

1. Our rates, while less than costs found in medical facilities, are still beyond the reach for many Christian Science families.

2. Christian Science nurses are not paid competitively with other professions. While a Christian Science nursing career is clearly a calling, careers for both new and experienced Christian Science nurses should demonstrate abundance. It appears few young people from the United States are choosing a career in Christian Science nursing at this time.
3. The financial reserves at Wide Horizon are marginally adequate to provide consistent continuity and stability through a longer economic downturn, and therefore need to be increased.

So, with the active support of the administration, the Board has driven a process to widen the awareness and support of the Christian Science community in the seven-state region and beyond which we serve by launching a five-year campaign entitled, "Wide Appeal for Sustainability." To support this effort, Wide Horizon has hired Norm Williams, an experienced development officer, who, among other things, led a nationwide development effort of the First Church of Christ, Scientist in Concord, New Hampshire. Also, the senior staff is beginning to make trips to meet with and inform individual supporters and memberships of branch churches about Christian Science nursing and Wide Horizon's role.

We expect that this campaign will occupy center stage of our meetings and efforts for the foreseeable future. A detailed description of the campaign and the rationale for it as well as a beautiful brochure about Wide Horizon are available to anyone upon

ANNOUNCEMENT of WIDE HORIZON 2017 ANNUAL MEETING Sunday, October 8 from 2:00PM to 4:00PM

The keynote speaker will be Annette Dutenhoffer, CS, of Longmont, Colorado. Her talk is titled: “Christian Science Nursing and You: Heeding the Still, Small Voice.” There also will be reports from the Board of Directors, Executive Director, Development Manager, and Director of Christian Science Nursing.

Our theme this year is “Heeding the Still, Small Voice” – with a focus on renewing our appreciation for Christian Science nurses and sustaining the ministry of Christian Science nursing at Wide Horizon.

This meeting will be held on our campus in the Main Building. Light refreshments will be provided. All are welcome!

Wide Horizon is located at 8900 West 38th Avenue, Wheat Ridge, CO.

Bio of Annette Dutenhoffer, C.S., of Longmont, CO

“Shepherd, show me how to go” and “I will listen for Thy voice” are among Annette Dutenhoffer’s first memories of attending the Christian Science Sunday School, wherever in the world her Air Force dad was stationed at the time.

That listening formed the foundation for a deeper commitment to the Christian Science movement in the last three decades. Annette moved from Los Angeles to Longmont with her husband and two daughters in the early 1990s, leaving a career with Northwest Airlines to raise their children. This move also led to ongoing, active membership in church, where she has served in nearly every capacity.

Annette followed the nudging of the still, small, but persistent voice and took primary class instruction in 1998. She began advertising as a public practitioner in The Christian Science Journal in 2005, and in the Spanish Herald several years later.

She has written extensively for the Christian Science periodicals and Mother Church sponsored websites, and has been a regular contributor to the Christian Science Monitor’s religious perspective column, bringing her prayers and a healing perspective to topics ranging from the legalization of recreational marijuana in Colorado to the 45th anniversary of the first walk on the moon.

Annette has also consistently supported Wide Horizon and its commitment to providing quality care for Christian Scientists in Colorado and the surrounding states by recording periodicals for roughly twenty years and joyfully serving as one of many volunteer practitioners for the facility.

To Touch the Lion's Paw

By Annette Dutenhoffer, C.S.

The circus came to town and Mrs. Eddy wanted to see it. It may be difficult to imagine the Leader of the Christian Science movement making time in her busy schedule to attend something like the circus, but she always had a reason for what she did.

She asked friend and dedicated worker, Julia Bartlett, to accompany her. "It is the menagerie which interests me; it is said to be exceptionally fine," she told Miss Bartlett.

They stopped in front of the lions' cage. Mrs. Eddy kept her eye on the guard, who was pacing back and forth in front of the cages of the great cats. When he stopped at the far end of his watch, "more quickly than I can tell it," said Miss Bartlett, "Mrs. Eddy was under the line; and the next moment her hand was resting on the lion's paw near the edge of the cage directly facing her." She took a moment to look into the face of the majestic beast, while her hand remained on the giant paw. Then, just as quickly, she was outside the guard rope again and ready to head home. (See Yvonne Caché von Fettweis and Robert Townsend Warneck, Mary Baker Eddy: Christian Healer, p. 422.)

It's an interesting account, and although we can only imagine what the surprised lion was thinking, we know that Mrs. Eddy put a great deal of importance on fearlessness in the practice of Christian Science. She wrote, "A man's gaze, fastened fearlessly on a ferocious beast, often causes the beast to retreat in terror." (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 378). On the same page, she likens this occurrence to the destruction of error in the face of Truth or, "the might of intelligence exercised over mortal beliefs."

Like a skilled lion tamer, the Christian Science nurse regularly stares down the mortal beliefs of disease, decline, and death, which seem to claim the reality and ferocity of a roaring beast. What is the result of this courage? The recognition of harmony and the destruction of pain and discord.

Consider this statement: "Let neither fear nor doubt overshadow your clear sense and calm trust, that the recognition of life harmonious—as Life eternally is—can destroy any painful sense of, or belief in, that which Life is not" (Science and Health, p. 495).

The Christian Science nurse's fearlessness, calm trust in good, and clear recognition of harmony open the way for joy and health to be seen and experienced by all in the sick room—patient, family, and nursing staff included. These qualities bring to everyone a sense of dominion over

"any painful sense of, or belief in, that which Life is not."

Over the years, I have had several friends who have sought healing during a stay at Wide Horizon. The dedication of the nursing staff to comfort and provide practical care, no matter what has presented itself to them, has been a strength to my friends, and also to those of us who have dropped by for a visit.

Yes, even better than the flowers which I inevitably bring, the spiritual qualities that each of the Christian Science nursing staff expresses bring continuous strength to residents. I appreciate their qualities of cheerfulness, orderliness, punctuality, patience, faithfulness, and receptivity. (See Science and Health, p. 395.)

I'd also like to say to each Christian Science nurse: Thank you for your fearlessness. Thanks for your willingness to rest your hand on the lion's great paw, so to speak, while dedicating yourself to witnessing the healing power of Christian Science.

The Activity of Love

By Jan Dillingham, Activities Coordinator

Since Wide Horizon's last newsletter, we have had several interesting, fun activities.

Before we share some of those with you, we want to take the opportunity to share with you our most important activity that goes on continuously. As Mary Baker Eddy states in Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures on page 113: "The vital part, the heart and soul of Christian Science, is Love."

Each day we see such tender acts of compassion and kindness that exemplify the truth of the above statement:

- Prayer offered to members of staff not feeling well.
- Walking down the hall after meals, gently tapping on each door to share a loving message.
- Prayers for staff needing to travel home in inclement weather.
- During daily Bible Lesson Study times guests share inspiration gained from the study of the Lesson, experiences and references to Mrs. Eddy's Writings and express gratitude to each other for sharing. This interaction filled with love is very uplifting, so supportive of healing.

This is just a sample of ongoing expressions of divine Love that we see. The lovingkindness that we see expressed among our guests and our staff – is the most important activity we have. This includes how appreciative our guests are of the Administrative Staff, Christian Science Nurses, Maintenance and Kitchen Staff, and Activities.

In April, a supporter of Wide Horizon came to Wide Horizon to share a video that was very special. It was about the first modern Olympics, which occurred in 1896. Her husband's uncle was part of the group of college students and faculty that helped to organize as well as participate in this event, which was held in Greece. What a special sharing, which was enjoyed by all!

The Summit Singers came to entertain us in May. This group included a pianist and a small group of singers who provided music to sing along with them. Everyone seemed to enjoy this participatory type of entertainment.

Also in the month of May, Katie Wood and Spencer Christensen held their Capstone Project for NLC

(National Leadership Council), which is part of Discovery Bound, here at Wide Horizon on a Saturday. A group of adults and youngsters helped plant flowers (THANK YOU!), Katie and Spencer shared with the group what is involved in their participation with NLC, and then the NLC group and Wide Horizon guests had a hymn sing and picnic. A fun, productive day for all!

We held our annual Fourth of July parade/party/entertainment on June 30. This celebration of Independence Day is always a fun event with children and grandchildren bringing bicycles, wagons, etc. to be decorated, and this is our "parade." We had our picnic on the back patio, and this year Nancy Steuart played the piano for us after the parade and picnic.

As always, we continue to have daily wheelchair rides and walks through our beautiful grounds, and this is a very loved activity. Our Thursday evening testimony meeting is a favorite weekly event, as this is our church, providing opportunity for sharing testimonies of healing after a volunteer reader provides readings.

We are so very grateful for our volunteers that provide varied and needed support for us. One particular need we have right now is for volunteers to come on a Saturday each month to read and discuss the weekly Bible Lesson with a small group of our guests, take people outdoors for wheelchair rides, eat lunch and visit in the dining room. We also have a need for readers for our Thursday evening testimony meetings. These individuals can be either current readers in their branch churches or those who have read in a branch church in the past. Sometimes people who are currently serving as readers simply read the lesson they prepared for their church on Wednesday. We try to keep enough people on our reader list so that no one needs to read more than once in a quarter. Please feel free to call or email Jan Dillingham (303-984-5350 or jdillingham83@gmail.com) if you have questions or ideas about serving as a volunteer at Wide Horizon.

Under Her Wings – Divine Love’s Ever-Watchful Eye and Protection

By Mary Culbertson, Asst. Director of Christian Science Nursing

Is not this something we yearn for - God’s impartial, embracing, and-in-the-moment loving care?

As one guest at Wide Horizon shared with me her observation of a mother duck, building her nest close to the building’s entrance, she contemplated how the little family felt sheltered and safe. And, how she herself felt the same tender care under the “wings” of Wide Horizon, the power of God’s ever-present operative, active law of Love, embracing and cherishing.

Reflecting upon our conversation, and how we best support a peaceful and safe atmosphere in our community at Wide and beyond, several “bread upon the water” ideas come to me.

One: Gratitude: “A grateful heart a garden is...” (Christian Science Hymnal, hymn 3). We all know the power of gratitude and how hymns and singing often establish stillness, serenity, and peace – harmony! A recent article, “A Reason to Sing,” even though a human perspective, speaks of the bodily effects of singing, and the release of beliefs of stress and anxiety. In Ephesians (5:19) Paul encourages the churches to communicate through song. And, throughout Psalms we’re encouraged to sing as we turn to God in distress and deliverance. As one sings, he is not unhappy or ungrateful for long!

Two: Self-knowledge: Are we captivated by the distractions of world thought? How committed are we to protecting our mental home and maintaining beautiful images of Spirit and experiencing the resulting tranquility and peace of a grateful and well-tended garden or consciousness? In Proverbs 25:28 we are warned, “He who hath no rule over his own spirit is like a city that is broken down, and without walls.” And, Mrs. Eddy writes in Miscellaneous Writings, p. 260, “Pure Mind gives out an atmosphere that heals and saves. Words are not always the auxiliaries of Truth. The spirit and not the letter, performs the vital functions of Love.” For me, therefore, self-knowledge is a form of sincerity and its foothold places us on the right path.

Three: The power of a good example: In Miscellaneous Writings, p. 110, we read, “What grander ambition is there than to maintain in yourselves what Jesus loved, and to know that your example, more than your words, makes morals for mankind!” What a powerful statement and a beacon in Christian Science nursing. We may not always have an immediate solution. However, we can always bring the love, encouragement, and humor which brings levity, deflating and disempowering error’s boasting.

Four: The Golden Rule: Love thy neighbor as thyself is the essence of Christian Science nursing. In Luke 10, Jesus is questioned by a lawyer, well versed in Jewish law of their day, “Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?” Jesus answers a question with a question, “What is written in the law? How readest thou?” He recites the law correctly, “...Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself.” Then he asks Jesus, “Who is

An Inspirational View

By John Baca, Maintenance Manager

Each day at Wide Horizon is a blessing from God. It is a joy to come to work every day, and I am so grateful for the opportunity to work here and to share my experiences with the many wonderful people at Wide Horizon. You can feel God's love and presence all around you. He works through each one of us, and through His work, we can accomplish great things and be an inspiration to others as we give back.

As the days go by, I continue to learn how to express God's love and ideas which have helped me achieve many things in my life, but there is one day that stands out in my mind.

In the summer of 2016, while I was grading dirt next to the ditch outside of the maintenance facility there was a log protruding from the ground. In order to level the dirt, the log had to be removed with a skid steer. As I moved the log with the bucket from the skid steer, a swarm of wasps rose up from the ground and attacked me. I found myself covered with wasps from my head to my waist as they made their way inside my clothing. I immediately removed my shirt and swatted at the swarm to get away but was stung multiple times all over my head and my body. My human thought told me I was being hurt as large welts began to appear and I became fearful. As I ran to the building, I continued to pull wasps out of my hair and from my clothes as I was being stung all over. I called the reception desk and they contacted Sue, Wide Horizon's Director of Christian Science Nursing. She immediately ran over and the first words out of her mouth were something to the effect, "You're okay, John. You can't be hurt by God's creation; therefore, you can't be hurt." She continued to know the truth and prayed for me along with several other people who heard about the incident. In the meantime, I contacted my wife, to let her know what had happened. When I got home my wife asked me to listen to "God's Law of Adjustment" by Adam H. Dickey, and she contacted her parents and asked them to pray for me.

But I was still struggling with the pain and fear from this experience and thought I needed aid from a physician. The physician told me this experience could be fatal if not attended to immediately and I should come to the ER, which only heightened my fear. I decided to take a shower instead. As I began to pray, a sense of calm came over me and I began to receive enlightenment. As numerous people continued to pray, I could feel a shift in my thoughts and the pain began to subside as the truth was being revealed. I replayed "God's Law of Adjustment" and as I lay there a sense of tranquility came over me that "all is well." I woke up the next day and to my amazement, I didn't feel any pain. The swelling from the day before went down and the stings on my skin began to dissipate. I was so grateful for God's tender love and for everyone involved who had prayed for me. I never experienced such a swift and powerful healing before. This was truly an eye-awakening experience that showed me the power of prayer. I learned to know the truth that we ALL are created by God in His image and likeness and this harmonious creation includes all of God's creatures.

From Christian Science Practitioners

"It is a joy to come closer to CS nursing. Thank you for feeding the sheep of God's pasture."

"It was a joy to embrace in thought the pure spiritual idea of CS nursing, knowing the Father's love is ever-present to support, care, guide, and heal."

Wish List for Maintenance & Grounds

- ❖ Heavy Duty Truck, estimated cost $25,000 - $30,000 – Our 20-year old GMC truck leaks fluids and has been repaired extensively. A used newer model Dodge 2500 or 3500 diesel truck would be ideal!
- ❖ Full Snow Plow Setup, est. cost $8,000 – The existing attached snow plow has been repaired often.
- ❖ Zero Turn Commercial Sit-down Lawn Mower, est. cost $4,000 – The current mower is a residential John Deere unit that is 13 years old and constantly needs repairs. A zero turn commercial mower would better suit the property with its many grassy areas.
- ❖ Tracked Commercial Snow Blower, est. cost $2,000 - $3,000 – A maneuverable, reliable unit that can handle deep snow to clean off walkways. The current residential unit is old, not reliable and rarely works when we need it most. It's already been serviced but to no avail.
- ❖ Benches for Pathway and Patio (5), est. cost $500 - $800 each – Made with low maintenance materials, sturdy, easy to clean, comfortable for our guests.

From Rest & Study Guests

- ◆ I love the peacefulness of Horizon House and happy colors of the rooms. The meals suit me perfectly. Members of the staff are wonderful. The view is magnificent.
- ◆ My stay at Wide Horizon was filled with blessings. Love permeated my respite there and opened the way for me to be still and welcome the Christ in thought at every turn. I loved the progress made in moving about more and more freely. Especially helpful to me were many broadcasts of truth during the day via the P.A. system. The CS nurses and all staff were so helpful with meals (which were truly tasty), and a bit of laundry. All were lovely with help. I progressed onward to everything becoming more independent. This opportunity for spiritual growth and Christian Science healing was a gift – a wonderful thing which is deeply appreciated.

- ◆ A guest shared while dining that Wide Horizon is wonderful. She loves the openness at Wide, and loves the loving, supportive atmosphere that pervades here.
- ◆ Dear Sue and Staff of Wide Horizon, I have been thinking about my visit at Wide Horizon and wanted to take the time to express my joy and gratitude to everyone who made my visit so special. I had such an uplifting and wonderful experience. I would like to thank you, Sue, for allowing me to check in so late at night. The night staff were so helpful and the check in went so smoothly. I had a major healing experience with smaller issues and continue to grow to understand the Truth for thoughts of hip pain error. I will be back as soon as I have the finances and time. I am double blessed because my son lives nearby in Denver with a new month old baby boy! Once again, I felt a big difference with a wonderful uplift in my thoughts... thank you so much for providing a beautiful place and such quality Christian Science services from your entire staff.

From the family of a guest/patient

- ◆ “Dear Wide Horizon staff and volunteers, thank you from the bottom of my heart for all the tender loving care and support given by all to my aunt while she was there! From admittance to her going home, small to large and everything in between! We are so grateful and appreciate your love shown and shared! With love and gratitude...”

Service on the Board

- ◆ We are sincerely grateful to Bonnie Jean Schlaepfer for her generous service to Wide Horizon as a Board member. At this time, Bonnie Jean needs to focus more on her family and her good works at her branch church. We wish her well!

Congratulations!

request. To obtain this literature, please call 303-424-4445 ext. 3150 or go to www.widehorizon.org.

Finally, again, we would like to say how much we appreciate the support of the Christian Science community. We see this symbol of God's abundance "forever developing ... from a boundless basis." And we look forward to reporting our progress at the Wide Horizon 2017 Annual Meeting on Sunday, October 8.

And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are called according to His purpose.

—Romans 8:28

my neighbor?" Jesus answers this question with the story of The Good Samaritan and then Jesus asks his final question, "Which now of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbor unto him that fell among thieves?... He that showed mercy on him..." This story instructs us to embrace our neighbor who comes to us moment by moment; those who have been robbed of their joy, or purpose or health. It asks of us to correct impositions of error which when held in submission to Truth, yield and harmony is restored.

Using the above four outlined points, I put them into practice in confronting troubling situations, mostly from social media. Standing more firmly to establish order, peace and truth in my "grateful garden" I have recently seen restoration of harmony as I have turned literally from false pictures, illusions and persistently worked with the Golden Rule. Most gratefully, willing to work in praying for and with others, we have witnessed the effect of Truth in consciousness and it has made an impression to them that prayer is an effective way to solving the world's ills. This prayer is often simply listening to divine Love's voice and acknowledging Love's ever-presence.

When we sincerely care about making a difference in our world, we get busy establishing the only reality there is, God's Allness, His infinite goodness: the perfect nature of creation incapable of corruption.

Lastly, another lesson is addressing an overwhelming sense of sadness or hopelessness in world thought, particularly in dealing with relationships and a belief of breakage, separation, and loss. Looking to God for the understanding of how He maintains all of His creations, intact, in His perfect plan, has helped clarify my role with those brought into my experience, including pets. I have come to see that it is God's role, and Him working through me through reflection, that honors and brings purpose to my relationships. This more spiritual view of others, grounded in Love and Principle, raises each of us to a more joyous and heightened expression of Life. We continue to powerfully bless, as we consider how infinite Love never ceases loving nor loses sight of its ideas.

So, getting back to our feathery friends, with their important gentle lesson, we owe so much gratitude to God's unceasing message of Love for all of us. What a privilege for us to witness and experience the ongoing good here as we watch the mother ducks and babies cruise the pond at Wide Horizon.
